I think there is always a time for celebrating and life has lots of them. Why not make it lovelier than you ever expected. I know not everyone has a knack for party planning but I want to show them how easy and simple it really can be with a few lovely details. I want to show my readers all of the lovely ideas and inspiration out there to make their party, occasion or wedding more than they could have ever dreamed. I love keeping up with all of the latest party and wedding trends and rounding up all of the lovely ideas and inspiration out there too so my readers see as much party eye candy as possible. I want my readers saying, I have never thought of that. I want to do that!
